About Liana:

Following graduation in 1982 Liana worked in a range of hospital and community health settings, both country and metropolitan before turning to private practice in 1995. Since that time Liana has developed a particular interest and expertise in school-age language and literacy difficulties. This was fostered by working at Scotch College Junior School for 7 years (alongside private practice), assisting boys with language and literacy learning difficulties. However, she continues to maintain skills and interest in early language and phonology.

Liana is an active member and the inaugural Life Member of the PSPAWA.
